Why Work Here?

“Be your own boss. Uncapped income potential with residual income!”

FINTECH is seeking an Account Executive to sell our payment processing solutions to small & mid-market businesses throughout the country with an immediate role in Raleigh, NC.

Your primary focus is to establish relationships with businesses, helping them save money on their current processing rates/fees, offer up to date equipment (EMV & NFC payment ready terminals, POS systems, Tablet POS solutions, virtual terminals for e-commerce), and ultimately provide better technical support/service.

We provide all of the tools, educational resources, and sales support to empower you to reach your fullest potential. Note, Account Executives are setup as independent contractors which will allow you to have total flexibility and freedom to work when you want, with who you want.

Additional benefits include:

- Proven training infrastructure, vast educational resources, direct support from an experienced relationship manager, online sales tools, and live conference calls
- Professional/customizable marketing brochures and business cards
- Online management tools including a virtual office/agent portal environment for client account management and access to other marketing tools
- Unlimited earnings with upfront cash incentives (paid daily), bonuses, and residual income.
- Monthly sales contests held throughout the year
- Flexible hours so you can set your own schedule and not report to an office

Experience in banking, credit card services, accounting, finance, business development, account management, sales/outside sales, or customer service is a plus.

Before applying for this position please ask yourself these two questions:

1. Would you be comfortable approaching business owners/decision makers to help them save money on their current merchant services?
2. Are you comfortable earning your income based solely on your ability to sell merchant service accounts?

If you answered "Yes" to the two questions above, we want to talk to you. Don't let this great opportunity pass you by.

APPLY NOW! We look forward to hearing from you.
